

New Mexico State Library

A Division of the Department of Cultural Affairs

We know state employees are busier than ever. The staff at the State Library can save you time and resources.

Information Overload?

Feeling overwhelmed with information? Need a friendly face to help you focus your research efforts? The State Library can save you time.

- ⊞ Answers to quick questions
- ⊞ Ongoing assistance with larger projects
- ⊞ A web site with full-text magazine and newspaper articles, including the ABQ Journal and other NM newspapers.
- ⊞ Referrals to the best information sources on the Web, in print, and in state government.

Partner to State Agencies

We want to work with you.

- ⊞ Make an appointment with one of our experienced reference librarians before you start your next big report, task force, or presentation.

- ⊞ Let us know if you are interested in training on topics, such as effective Internet searching, and use of online databases provided by the State Library.

- ⊞ Consult with us about books and journals you recommend that we purchase, or let us borrow materials for you from libraries around the world.

- ⊞ Add your agency's electronic documents to our Web-based depository of state publications.

Place to Meet, Work, and Visit

Come and visit us in the beautiful Garrey Carruthers State Library Building at 1209 Camino Carlos Rey. Enjoy ample free parking.

- ⊞ Connect to the Internet using our computers or yours through our free wireless access.

- ⊞ Browse our collections covering government, foundations and grant resources, southwest history and culture, census, and library science.

- ⊞ Use our numerous information databases.

- ⊞ Find a quiet work space away from phones and distractions to finish an important project.

State Employees on the Go

Location doesn't matter. We can help wherever you have an office, even at home or on the road.

- ⊞ Visit our website at nmstatelibrary.org.
- ⊞ E-mail us at reference@state.nm.us.
